Prophet Cards

These cards are a Christmas gift to you! You can use them to learn more about our modern-day prophets. You could also copy the cards to make a matching game. Print more copies at friend.lds.org.

Joseph Smith (1805–1844) 1st President of the Church

John Taylor (1808–1887) 3rd President of the Church

Wilford Woodruff (1807–1898) 4th President of the Church

Brigham Young (1801–1877) 2nd President of the Church

Lorenzo Snow (1814–1901) 5th President of the Church

George Albert Smith (1870–1951) 8th President of the Church

Heber J. Grant (1856–1945) 7th President of the Church

Joseph F. Smith (1838–1918) 6th President of the Church

December 2014

ILLUSTRATIONS BY ROBERT T. BARRETT AND THOMAS S. CHL.
Friend

They paid their tithing.

He told Church members they would be blessed if they went to be baptized in Heavenly Father and Jesus

Christ appeared to him when he was 14 years old.

He translated the Book of Mormon from the golden plates.

He directed the Saints to build the Kirtland and Nauvoo temples.

He chose to be baptized after taking a Hebrew class with Joseph Smith.

He almost drowned while going to preach in Hawaii.

He told Church members they would be blessed if they paid their tithing.

He was the son of Hyrum Smith, and Joseph Smith was his uncle.

At age nine he drove a team of oxen to Utah with his mother and other pioneers.

He was only 15 years old when he began serving a mission in Hawaii.

At age nine he drove a team of oxen to help with the Saints.

He was his uncle.

He was the son of Hyrum Smith.

He grew up in England.

They directed the Saints to build the Kirtland and Nauvoo temples.

He directed the Saints to build the Kirtland and Nauvoo temples.

He began work building the Salt Lake Temple.

He dedicated the Salt Lake Temple.

He was Church Historian and wrote in his own journal daily for 63 years.

He served several missions and baptized thousands of people.

He was a friend to the friendless and found joy in ministering to the needs of the poor.

As President, he sent humanitarian aid to Europe after World War II.

He grew up in England.

He sang for Joseph and Hyrum Smith in Carthage.

He almost drowned while going to preach in Hawaii.

He was an eloquent speaker.

He was President during the Great Depression.

He had many health challenges, including poor eyesight.

One of his lifelong goals was: “I would be a friend to the friendless and find joy in ministering to the needs of the poor.”

He was President during the Great Depression.

He served several missions and baptized thousands of people.

He was Church Historian and wrote in his own journal daily for 63 years.

He grew up in England.

He was a friend to the friendless and found joy in ministering to the needs of the poor.

As President, he sent humanitarian aid to Europe after World War II.

He grew up in England.

He sang for Joseph and Hyrum Smith in Carthage.

He almost drowned while going to preach in Hawaii.

He was an eloquent speaker.

He was President during the Great Depression.

He had many health challenges, including poor eyesight.

One of his lifelong goals was: “I would be a friend to the friendless and find joy in ministering to the needs of the poor.”

He was President during the Great Depression.

He served several missions and baptized thousands of people.

He was Church Historian and wrote in his own journal daily for 63 years.

He grew up in England.

He was a friend to the friendless and found joy in ministering to the needs of the poor.

As President, he sent humanitarian aid to Europe after World War II.

He grew up in England.

He sang for Joseph and Hyrum Smith in Carthage.

He almost drowned while going to preach in Hawaii.

He was an eloquent speaker.

He was President during the Great Depression.

He had many health challenges, including poor eyesight.

One of his lifelong goals was: “I would be a friend to the friendless and find joy in ministering to the needs of the poor.”

He was President during the Great Depression.

He served several missions and baptized thousands of people.

He was Church Historian and wrote in his own journal daily for 63 years.

He grew up in England.
He encouraged Church members to go to the rescue of those who have wandered away from Heavenly Father.

As a boy, he learned to unselfishly share with those in need.

A walnut tree he planted was used to build the pulpit of the Conference Center.

When he was young, he traveled to the Middle East as an Apostle and helped choose the site for the BYU Jerusalem Center.

He encouraged people to read the Book of Mormon every day.

Before becoming President of the Church, he served as Secretary of Agriculture in school.

He grew up on a farm and studied agriculture in school.

As a young man, he drove his mother in a carriage when she needed to take care of women in the neighborhood.

He loved playing sports, especially handball.

While serving a mission in Scotland, he saw a carving that became his motto: "What-e'er thou art, act well thy part."

While he was President, more than 70 temples were dedicated.

As a boy, he memorized scriptures and hymns while milking cows.

He was the son of President Joseph F. Smith.

He was raised on a farm and loved animals all his life.

As a teacher in a one-room schoolhouse, he was a teacher in one-room schoolhouse.

While President, the number of temples doubled.

He received revelation that all worthy men could hold the priesthood.

He was called as a bishop at age 22 and as an Apostle at age 36.

He helped create the Church Welfare Program.

While President, the first stakes were organized outside of North America.

He traveled to the Middle East as an Apostle and helped choose the site for the BYU Jerusalem Center.

He was called as a bishop at age 22 and as an Apostle at age 36.

He helped create the Church Welfare Program.

While President, the first stakes were organized outside of North America.