

MATT AND MANDY

Since I'm in charge of family home evening tonight, we're going to have a star party.

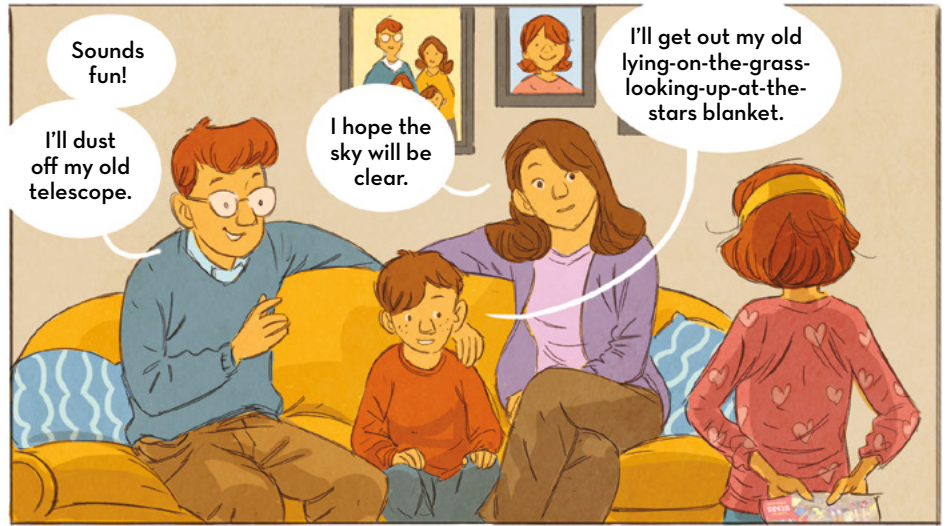

Sounds fun!

I'll dust off my old telescope.

I hope the sky will be clear.

I'll get out my old lying-on-the-grass-looking-up-at-the-stars blanket.

Don't worry about those things.

We just need some paper and pens and a copy of the Friend!

... So we should let our light shine by being kind and helpful to others.

Then we can write about it on a paper star and send it to the Friend.

Mandy, will you show me your cool trick for making stars?

Sure.

Then I can write that good deed on a star.

Think you could teach me how to hold scissors?
