

MATT & MANDY

Thanks for helping me study for that science test. I passed, thanks to you.

No problem!

Umm . . . how come you've been so nice to me after some of us were so mean when you first got here?

Well, after you failed that first science test you looked like you needed some help.

And we had a lesson in our family home evening about being kind to others.

What's family home evening?

Family home evening is where we get together and have lessons, and games, and treats.

My family doesn't do anything like that.

Hey! Does your family want to come to our home evening next Monday night?

Sounds fun. I'll ask my mom.

Mom, can I be in charge of family home evening on Monday? I invited Audrey. I hope that's OK.

. . . I'll make brownies and . . .
