

Trying to Be Like Jesus

Returning the Doll

At the community pool I looked in the lost and found for a missing piece to my goggles. I didn't find the piece, but I saw a mermaid doll. I thought it was mine, so I took it. When I got home I found another mermaid doll in my room. I knew the one I had found at the pool was not mine. I could have kept both, but I wanted the person who had lost the doll to find it. We returned the extra doll to the pool. I know that I chose the right thing to do, and it made me feel happy to help someone else.

Serving a Friend

had a friend who was sick. My family went to the store and bought her some goodies to help her feel better. I was happy to serve her.

Words of Wisdom

ne day at school my friend said that she drinks coffee sometimes. I told her that coffee is bad for our bodies. Now my friend does not drink coffee anymore.

Happy to Serve

n the way home from church the day after Halloween, I saw a bunch of smashed pumpkins in the parking lot of my school. That day I had learned in Primary about doing service. Anyone can do service, and we get blessings from doing it. I told my mom that I wanted to clean up the pumpkins. We filled up three big bags with pumpkins and seeds. I felt happy that I did service.

A Kind Helper

hen I was walking home from school one day
I saw my friend.
She was crying because her mom was not home. So I took her to my house. She felt better when I helped her. Her mom came home soon after that, and my friend was happy. I am glad I could help my friend.

Good Language

nce I had my friend over to play who is not a member of the Church. He took the Lord's name in vain. I told him that I didn't like him saying that, and now he doesn't say it when I am around.

Nolan K., age 9, Washington

Sunday Play

y mom told me that there was going to be a play in our town. That sounded like fun and I wanted to be in it, but some of the rehearsals were on Sundays. Even though I really wanted to be in the play, I decided that it was more important to keep the Sabbath day holy. I felt happy after I made that choice because I know it's what Jesus would want me to do.
