

and her children were grown. She said, "You're always here alone! I can see that you're trying so hard. Could Tyson sit with me?" I couldn't even think of a response! I just nodded as she took him by the hand and led him, now calm and happy, back into the chapel.

I wiped away my tears, picked up my baby, and humbly walked back into the chapel to enjoy the rest of the meeting in peace.

The next Sunday as we walked into sacrament meeting, Tyson searched for his new friend. At night he would pray, "Thank you, Heavenly Father, for Sister Beus. I love her so much!"

It's been over three years, and Tyson still often searches the chapel for Sister Beus. Last year she was called to be Tyson's Primary teacher. He was the happiest little boy alive.

I am so grateful for Sister Beus and her willingness to love and serve others. I know that we can bless the lives of others when we serve as the Savior did. ■

DONE!

During my interviews as a bishop one Sunday afternoon, I had the pleasure of sitting down with a good friend to talk about some challenges he was facing. After listening to his concerns for a few minutes, I felt that what he needed was consistency in reading the scriptures. I was also reminded that, as his bishop, I too should be more constant in my scripture study, which was something I had been struggling with. So I suggested that we become "accountability partners" in striving to study more consistently.

Every day after we finished reading our scriptures, we would text each other the word Done! Knowing that someone else was waiting to hear whether or not the other had completed his reading for the day was a great motivation for the both of us. If one of us forgot, receiving a text was a reminder. If the other person did not text, he wasn't called out on it. We let each other take this challenge on without making the other person feel guilty.

We started the challenge six months ago now, and I don't recall a day that we have missed reading our scriptures. This brother stood up during fast and testimony meeting a couple of months ago and shared his testimony of the positive impact that daily scripture study was having on him and his family.

I am grateful for this brother and his friendship, as well as his daily texts. I have seen how technology, when used properly, can enhance our lives. I'm also thankful for the scriptures and how they testify of Christ. I know that the Savior's atoning sacrifice makes it possible for each of us to return to live with Him someday. ■
