

By Elder Neil L. Andersen
Of the Quorum of the Twelve Apostles

What promises do we make at baptism?

We take the name of Jesus Christ upon us and become a member of His Church.

An illustration of a young boy with dark hair and a white baptismal garment being baptized in water. A hand is shown pouring water over his head.

After that, as we take the sacrament each week, we promise to remember Jesus.
We promise to keep His commandments.

An illustration of a young girl with brown hair and a yellow dress taking the sacrament. A hand is shown pouring water into a white bowl, and she is holding a small white wafer.

We believe in Him.
We worship Him.
We follow Him.

An illustration of two children, a girl in a pink shirt and a boy in an orange shirt, sitting on the grass and looking at a tablet computer that displays a portrait of Jesus Christ.

From "Thy Kingdom Come," Ensign or Liahona, May 2015, 119–123.

ILLUSTRATIONS BY HOLIE HIBBERT; PHOTOGRAPH OF WATER BY ISTOCK/THINKSTOCK