

NOONDAY
BY CHRISTINE LAYTON

All the fields away
Are flat with brightness,
Lightness
Of sun on white,
Snow.

Eyelashes interlocking,
Squinting at white,
Bright beyond looking at
Under noon-sun
Snow.

Awed breath, clouds white
Oh! At the glow
Of pure-fallen, earth bright,
Not angel white
Snow.