

FUN STOP

Not a Moment to Lose

The stakes aren't quite life and death, but they're close. You're at your favorite amusement park, and you only have three hours to hit all your favorite rides. The only way to do so is to not backtrack EVEN ONCE! Ready, set, go!

ILLUSTRATIONS BY ANDREW ROBERTS

Rhyme Time

Ever heard of a “hink pink”? It’s a two-word rhyming solution to a puzzle, where each word in the answer has the same number of syllables.

Example: what would you call highly unusual facial hair? Weird beard! Try to solve the following hink pinks. Answers are on page 45 if you get stuck.

1. Laban's favorite weapon, with nothing interesting to do.

2. A pedal-propelled mode of transportation made from frozen water.

3. An outstanding marsupial.

4. Naomi's daughter-in-law, tellin' it like it is.

5. A magical grasshopper.

6. If Laman and Lemuel's dad were about two feet tall.

7. A confident and hopeful, tuxedoed resident of the South Pole.

8. A moat-worthy fortress where people give you a hard time.

9. Sending someone away because they brought you one of Paul's letters.

10. A ball-shaped, divine act.

11. Pet dogs (OK, not really) of the prophet in the lion's den.

12. The ability to clearly see the pure love of Christ.

“Dear Pahoran . . .”

Captain Moroni's assistant headed to the market to buy paper and ink. A scroll of paper and bottle of ink had the combined cost of a few shiblons of silver, which we'll call $1.10. The paper cost one dollar more than the ink. How much did the ink cost? Check your answer on page 45.