

Show

and tell

Book of Mormon Edition!

Our bishop challenged us to read the Book of Mormon as a family. We got behind, but we still finished. We were blessed, and it was fun to read it! We took turns reading a few verses every night and prayed together at the end to know if the Book of Mormon is true. We went to dinner and ice skating to celebrate.

Magnolia, Juniper, and Curtis B., age 7, 3, and 5, Utah, USA

When President Nelson asked the women in the Church to read the Book of Mormon, our family decided to read it together. We read it before school each day. It took a while, but we finished just before the end of the year. Now I listen better at church and I am reading better at school too.

Eli C., age 7, California, USA

Owen H., age 9, Arizona, USA

My mum set me a challenge to read the Book of Mormon by the end of the year. I read about three to four chapters a day. I believe the Book of Mormon is true because I could feel the Holy Ghost with me. I'm up to my second time reading it.

Jordan M., age 8, New South Wales, Australia

Samantha S., age 11, Wyoming, USA

Send in your Book of Mormon art and experiences! See how on page 39.

I read to my sister, Ella, every morning before school. We put a cotton ball in a jar each time we read. We'll celebrate with a family activity when it's full. I feel blessed when I read the scriptures with my sister.
Sophia S., age 10, Connecticut, USA

Hattie O., age 9, Michigan, USA

We love the Book of Mormon. It's our favorite book because it teaches about Jesus Christ.
Rachel and Skylar W., ages 3 and 5, Arizona, USA

Toby H., age 10, Texas, USA