The Happy Day at Last Has Come

Brightly  \( \frac{d}{4} = 69–84 \)

1. The happy day at last has come. The truth revealed, stored is now made known. The promised angels’ darkness has appeared. The lands which long been.

2. The gospel trumpet again is heard. The truth from Abram did behold, The day that Saints declared.

3. The day by prophets long foretold, The day which Jesus in their ear, And angels, who again

4. The day when Saints again shall hear The voice of come again To introduce Messiah’s reign.

nighted lay Have now beheld a glorious day:
sired so long, When God his great work would perform, bove do reign, Come down to speak again with men.
